

Bi-lingual Point of Sale (POS) Solution for a Retail Chain in Libya

A case study

2000+ man hours of experience in POS space as a dedicated team

Business Need

The client required a unique touch screen based bi-lingual POS application in Arabic and English versions that could efficiently manage the operations of a retail store with an attached restaurant - A Point-of-sale application that will help the store perform error-free and effortless day-to-day operations.

An application that can efficiently perform functions like:

- Capture various data related to product, price, transactions and vendors
- Equipped with automated cash drawer and display for customers
- Compatible to various payment options
- Effectively manage day-to-day operations related to employee attendance, shift timings, and other vital credentials
- Facilitate maintaining adequate level of inventory for all the products sold by the store
- Facilitate managing the Stock on a day-to-day basis
- Give valuable inputs regarding the health of the store

The client sought to give his store a different dimension and enable a major face lift by introducing a high-performance POS system who understands both English and their native language and above all, delivers great experience.

Major Challenge

ProTeam is into the POS space since last 10 years and have significant experience of successfully implementing various POS application possessing different levels of complexity, but this was one of its kinds.

The screenshot displays a POS application window titled 'تسجيل المعروف' (Register the known). It shows a sales report for 'IceCream' with columns for 'اسم الصنف' (Item Name), 'تاريخ' (Date), 'الكمية' (Quantity), 'اجمالي' (Total), 'مجموع شرائها' (Purchase Total), 'مجموع' (Total), and 'مدائل' (Sales). The report is filtered for 'المجموعة: All' and 'التاريخ: 2014-02-13'. The interface is in Arabic and includes various navigation and action buttons on the right side.

Every client is important

To think with speed, flexibility and an open mind

The most exciting challenge was to overcome the language barrier that was so prominent during the design and development phase of this unique application.

Arabic being a unique language whose script runs from right to left, made the assignment even more interesting. It was not only about re-aligning the forms but also about a user filling data into the fields in a language whose script runs in the reverse direction unlike English.

The second major challenge was to maintain real-time stock and inventory on a day-today basis which takes care of even the breakages and wastages in an environment where you have multiple suppliers.
